“Inspiring Happiness Within”

ABOUT WENDY

Wendy is an entrepreneur, successful business coach, bucket list coach and most importantly a loving and inspiring mother. In 2003 she moved from the UK to South Africa in search of inner peace and happiness.

Wendy shares her story of how she overcame a dysfunctional family, the nightmare of child abuse, loneliness and destructive relationships. She is a testament to the power of visualisation and indomitable hope to conquer even the worst of circumstances. She proves that positive meaning can always be drawn from even the most soul-destroying experiences.

Her story is one of unstoppable love, grace, positivity and even humour in the face of daunting obstacles and fears. By relating how one abused and broken girl raised herself to be a successful and self-confident woman, her story will inspire and motivate individuals of all genders and cultural backgrounds to rise above their demons and realise their own unlimited power to build the life they wish to lead.

Wendy is the author of ‘Her Mothers Betrayal’ A journey through Horror to Happiness.

TESTIMONIAL

“Its been a week since you came to talk to our company and I still cannot stop thinking about what you said. It had a profound affect on me. You shared so honestly but was so inspiring to hear your story and how you have managed to live your life with purpose and rewrite your story. You gave so many practical tips on how we can all do the same in order to live our lives to their full potential.

You have learnt an amazing gift and I only hope you continue to share with others as you did with us!”
